Selection officials are reminded that they must make nondiscriminatory selections. When minorities and														ıd women are among the best of the eligible candidates, managers and supervisors have the obligation to ensure they are given full consideration and to choose the person who will best fulfill the needs of the organization, including affirmative action and equal opportunity objectives. All selections must meet the scrutiny of sound civilian personnel and EEO policies and directives.
The EEO representative for this selection is
